

Slaughtering of Citizens as They Passed through Pro-Syrian Regime Sectarian Villages

Abducting and slaughtering victims is becoming a more and more frequent occurrence, where civilian cars pass through pro-regime sectarian villages. We receive reports about horrifying incidents. What we are able to contact the victims' families about is far less than the actual magnitude, as the Syrian regime ban all human rights organization from working on Syrian lands.

As a car was going back home from Lebanon with six citizens inside, their families suddenly lost contact with them on Lebanon-Hama road which goes through the Alawite-majority Misyaf city. A pro-regime sectarian armed militia, considering the nature of the area whose residents are part of the Alawite sectarian group, stopped the car and executed everyone inside, including an elder woman, before disfiguring the dead bodies.

The victims that SNHR was able to document through contacting their families

- 1- Mohammad Ali al Shari'I, 36-year-old, from al Nassr neighborhood, Hama, a taxi driver, married to a woman, who was pregnant at the time, and a father of two daughters and. His dead body was horrendously disfigured.
- 2- Mahmoud al Na'eb, from Hama, was slaughtered to death by pro-regime forces. His dead body was horrendously disfigured.
- 3- Yahya al Na'eb, from Hama, was slaughtered to death by pro-regime forces. His dead body was horrendously disfigured.
- 4- A woman from the Dalla family, from Hama, elder, was slaughtered to death by pro-regime forces, before they severed her head.
- 5-6- Two victims from the Dalla family, from Hama, Their dead bodies were horrendously disfigured.

The crime of killing that was committed by pro-Syrian government, Shabiha, is a crime of ethnic cleansing. We hold the Syrian government, security forces, and Shabiha fully responsible for the legal and human rights repercussions for perpetrating this massacre.

Additionally, given its widespread and systematic manner, as it has occurred more than once, this crime is considered a crime against humanity with all the elements of such a crime fulfilled.
